Following Directions Game

Thanks for purchasing this product!

Lots of students have difficulty following directions, but not all directions are the same. Some struggle with motor-skill-based directions, while others struggle with cognitive directions, such as those involving basic concepts or basic math/reading tasks. That's where this game can help! This game can help students with ADHD, Autism, Cognitive Disabilities, Learning Disabilities, or other difficulties improve their memory and concentration.

This game includes printable cards and scorecards in PowerPoint format, as well as a no-print version for use on laptops or Smart Boards! No printing, cutting or laminating required! I read each card only 1 time and award a point if the student does the tasks correctly. There are also a few "gain a point" and "lose a point" cards thrown in too.

Cards are color and symbol coded, so you can easily find the deck you need.

- (30) Red = 1-Step Directions
- (30) Orange = 2-Step Directions
- (30) Yellow = 3-Step Directions

- Stripes (feet symbol) = movement
- Dots (shapes symbol) = basic concepts
- Waves (light bulb symbol) = academic
- Chevron (star symbol) = combined
